Incumbents fall by wayside as voters return fresh slate

Incumbents fell by the wayside as voters in Anson, Hindon and Minden returned an entirely fresh slate to the municipal council for the next three years. In all races, candidates who had served on the previous council were weeded from the ballot as voters chose to send a completely new slate to the 1985-88 council table.

Many of the races were close, but none was more surprising than the rejection by the voters of Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas. He was defeated by challenger Brendan Berube by a 752-679 margin.

In the race for reeve, Sinc Nesbitt managed to defeat Gary Kenney for the top position by 37 votes. Nesbitt, who has served as reeve of the township in the past and was defeated for the position in 1980, captured 763 votes. Kenney, an outspoken councillor received 726 votes. Nesbitt had also been reeve in Stanhope Township and served as Warden of Haliburton County.

There was only one incumbent running for the three seats on the municipal council. Pat Burk polled the fewest votes of the five candidates with 525 votes.

The reeve of the present council, Lyle McKnight, was also defeated in his quest for a seat on council. He had decided not to contest the reeve's chair this time following a stroke earlier this year. Following the health problem, the reeve returned to the chair, but indicated it would be best for the municipality if he did not take on the rigorous chores associated with the reeve's position. McKnight polled 804 votes in Tuesday's election, just 18 shy of the last seat in the council race.

Leading the race for the three council seats was Bern Berry with 856 votes. Berry had made his first attempt at a council seat last election and had placed in fifth place in a field of eight. Bob Sisson took second place in the race, capturing 833 votes. This was his first attempt at municipal politics. The third member of the council for the next three years will be Verne Graham, who captured 822 votes.

None of the three councillors-elect had served on a municipal council in the past.

The voters in the municipality were also asked to decide whether they wished to have a ward system. The idea was rejected by a solid majority of voters, 844 to 542.

There are 5634 eligible voters in the municipality. 1510 voted in this election, representing a turnout of 26.75%.

The two positions on the Haliburton County Board of Education for the municipality were filled by acclamation. John Cooper and Wendy Ladurantaye were appointed to the posts.

Flags dipped in respect during the minute of silence, members of the Kinmount Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion remember those who never returned home from conflict overseas. The Kinmount ceremony was one of a number held in the area during the past weekend.

The County remembers

Hundreds of veterans, residents, and young people throughout Haliburton County paused during the weekend to pay tribute to the soldiers who died for Canada. Ceremonies were held in Kinmount, Wilberforce, Minden and Haliburton to honour the soldiers.

The services in Minden and Kinmount were held on Sunday.

Braving cool temperatures and gusty winds, members of Branch 129 of the Royal Canadian Legion led a contingent of marchers to the county cairn erected next to the Minden Cultural Centre. After the playing of the last post, wreaths, in memory of the war dead, were placed at the foot of the monument. Those laying wreaths included Mrs. Mary Cox of Minden, representing the Province of Ontario,

Agency funds study into tourism project

A study into the feasibility of an extensive tourism facility west of Minden could result in a multi-million dollar development for the area.

A joint press release, issued by the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation and the federal ministry of Tourism announced that funding for the feasibility study would be shared between the two agencies and the private developer.

The $13,800 grant will be matched by Nick Florian the owner of Onondaga Camp, located on Middle Bob Lake in Lutterworth Township. The proposed tourist facility will be located across the lake from the camp on the western shore. The lake is currently reached by Deep Bay Road and Rackety Trail.

Mr. Florian is the owner of Middle Bob Lake Ltd., the company under which the study is being carried out. A spokesman for the federal ministry involved, Wayne St. John, said the firm of Marshall, Macklin and Monaghan Ltd., of Toronto would be carrying out the study. St. John said the company is a respected member of the tourist management consulting field.

Provincial tourism minister, Victoria - Haliburton MPP John Eakins and his federal counterpart, Jack Murta, shared in announcing the grant.

The Times has learned that the study will be examining the potential for a resort catering to the mature adult market. It would operate much the same as other resorts in the Highlands with accommodation, recreation and dining facilities included in the project.

A spokesman said it was impossible to determine the size of the development and it was hoped that the study results might offer some indication of the extent of the project. A resort catering to 50 or more couples is one option apparently under consideration.

The resort would provide a variety of recreational activities and skills development programs.

Mr. Florian was out of the province at the time of the announcement and unavailable for comment on the project.

A spokesman for the federal ministry said he expected the study to be completed by early January at which time the owner of the property would have to decide whether to proceed with the undertaking. He described Mr. Florian as a proven successful operator in the tourism field and suggested his experience and know-how were two reasons the two agencies agreed to share in the funding of the study.

The funding is being made available through the Tourism Development Program of the Canada-Ontario Economic and Regional Development Agreement, which was signed last fall by the two governments.

Fallen comrades are remembered

Joan Irish, Branch 129 president on behalf of the Legion and Deputy-Reeve Ed Pergolas for the townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Of particular significance at the Minden service was the presence of Minden's only surviving World War One veteran, Charlie Rumbelow.

Following the cairn service, the marchers and participants returned to the community centre for a social hour.

In Kinmount, the members of Branch 441 led the marchers to the cenotaph on the community's main street Sunday morning. After a brief ceremony, wreaths were laid at the cenotaph.

Victoria - Haliburton MP Bill Scott, a member of the Kinmount Branch, told the audience that he was pleased to place a wreath donated by morning as services were held at the cenotaphs in Haliburton Village and Wilberforce.

Branch 129 of the Royal Canadian Legion was the Minister of Veterans Affairs, George Hees, at the Kinmount marker. He noted this was the first time the federal agency had provided the tribute and that on future Remembrance Days, he would be presenting it at other cenotaphs in the riding. "I am particularly pleased and proud to be able to present this for the first time here in Kinmount," he told the audience.

The marchers completed their tribute to their fallen comrades with a march-pass and salute. They then joined the church service at the community's Roman Catholic Church. A social hour followed at the Legion hall.

Once again cold temperatures prevailed Monday responsible for the ceremonies in Haliburton. Led by the branch's pipe band, a large contingent of members marched to the main street marker to pay their respects. Dalton MacDonald, representing the residents of the county, placed a wreath at the cenotaph. Wreaths from the province, federal government, Dysart et al, Legion branch and others were also presented.

Following the solemn ceremonies, the Legion members marched back to the hall for a luncheon and period of fellowship.

Similar services were held in the community of Wilberforce. Under the direction of the local Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, number 624.

Following the ceremonies, the participants enjoyed a luncheon and social hour

As well as the special services planned for the cenotaphs and cairn in the area, students of the various schools took part in Remembrance Day programs.

A shared responsibility

While the polls have closed as of this writing, the results of Tuesday's election are as yet unknown in this office. Reflecting on the campaign which has unfolded over the past three or four weeks, we are buoyed by the fact that most positions in this municipality and other adjacent townships were not filled by acclamation. It is a healthy sign and the voters will be the ultimate winners.

One disappointing aspect of the present campaign was that so much of it was carried out through the exchange of rumour and falsehood. During the past few weeks we had heard some pretty wild and preposterous tales about various candidates. Anyone with any degree of knowledge about the person being impugned is aware of how blatantly false or distorted the rumour is. Unfortunately, the story is generally relayed and accepted with the reverence of the Gospel truth.

Citizens who are willing to stand for public office must be willing to accept a certain degree of critical analysis and comment. But malicious half-truths and innuendo are not what a campaign should be made of.

We owe a debt of gratitude to those who stood for office. They have helped ensure our system continues to function as it should. However we all have a responsibility to ensure the values we cherish are not tarnished by cheap efforts to gain favour.

In support

It was heartening to see the number of young people in attendance at various Remembrance Day services throughout this area. Their presence, as spectators and participants, is an encouraging signal that the memory of those who died in conflicts, to protect our way of life, will not be forgotten by generations who have not been asked to meet the ultimate challenge.

Rest assured, someone is there to catch the torch.

Budget helps tourism

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

In last week's column, I discussed the new budget introduced by Ontario Treasurer, Robert Nixon, and its impact on the tourism industry. As the Minister of Tourism and Recreation, I welcomed the programs announced in the budget which will benefit tourism operators and tourists, especially in Victoria-Haliburton.

This week, I would like to focus on the effect the budget will have on another important sector of our riding's economy - agriculture. Agriculture's share of Ontario's budget climbed to nearly $400 million - an increase of 21% from last year's expenditure.

It added funds for a new program to assist farmers in transition, added cash for Tripartite Income Stabilization and detailed $50 million for already announced Ontario Family Farm Interest Rate Reduction program. In addition, my colleague, Agriculture Minister Jack Riddell is currently negotiating with the federal government to ensure much needed payments to our beef and hog farmers are retroactive.

I'm confident farmers in our area, as well as those throughout the province will benefit from the budget's programs.

On a tourism note, I was pleased to announce a tourism study will be conducted in Minden to determine whether a year-round resort on Middle Bob Lake, near Minden would be a viable tourist facility.

Together with my federal colleague, Jack Murta, the Minister of State for Tourism, we announced our ministries will jointly fund half of the cost of the study. Half of the cost of the $27,600 study, to be carried out by an independent consultant, will be funded through the Tourism Development Program of the Canada-Ontario Economic and Regional Development Agreement. The study will be undertaken for Middle Bob Lake Ltd., owned by Nick Florian. His current proposal calls for a main lodge, with full dining room, lounge and recreational services and several small cottages.

U.I. changes

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

On October 28, Flora MacDonald, Minister of Employment and Immigration, announced the 1986 minimum and maximum insurable earnings figures for Unemployment Insurance (UI). These figures, which are used to calculate UI benefits, come into effect January 1, 1986.

The UI program is funded by premiums from employers and workers. The amount of the premiums paid depends on two factors - the premium rate and the amount of income that is insured.

"In the May budget, we froze the employee premium rate for 1986 at $2.35 for every $100 of insurable income," said Miss MacDon-

Motionless beneath an aged apple, the brown-and-white form scans the terrain for movement. Seeing none, she stretches toward a tender twig. Suddenly, mayhem erupts, and the form explodes into action. Straight up she goes, legs flailing; then off through the brambles. But ... too late; her unwary form becomes another meal.

Snowshoe hares are vital in Ontario's meadow and woodland ecosystems, providing the link between plant material and a host of larger mammals and birds. And, by their selective taste preferences, snowshoes actually help determine which trees comprise our forests, and which plants flourish in meadow habitats.

Snowshoes feed voraciously upon grasses, asters, daisies, jewelweed, a variety of herbs, and the tender leaves of birch, poplar and willow. As winter arrives, they switch to the food-rich buds and twig-bark of birches, poplars, shrubs and even conifers. They especially relish sugar-rich species like cherry, and fruit trees, while avoiding bitter-tasting species.

This taste preference - coupled with their voracious appetites and large numbers - means that the more palatable species - like butternut - are cropped off into relative rarity each year, while bitter species - maple, beech and oak among them - flourish.

Using elaborate digestive tracts, snowshoes convert the enormous quantities of consumed vegetation - up to 1/4 of their body weight per day - into protein. It seems ironic that the cecum - that "useless" organ known as an appendix in people, is the key to the whole system. In the snowshoe and its cousins, this bag-like section of the intestine is tremendously enlarged, and acts as a fermenting pot where bacteria digest the cellulose which the animal itself can't break down. Using an enormous intestine, the nutrients

Snow blamed for accidents

The arrival of snow this past weekend, as usual caught some drivers ill-prepared for the slippery conditions. Of the 16 mishaps investigated by the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, 11 took place during the storm on Saturday.

Some $10,000 in damage was incurred in a single car accident Saturday afternoon on County Road 14, south of Fort Irwin. The mishap occurred when a car, driven by 32 year old Gary McIntosh, of Downsview, slid off the roadway. The 1984 model Ford struck a rock cut and rolled over.

The driver and passengers P. McIntosh, 36, of Downsview, and George Cox, 65, of Fort Irwin, were treated for minor injuries at Haliburton Hospital.

The investigating officer is Constable Joe Dorricott.

Slush

Slippery road conditions made one driver lose control of his vehicle and slam head on into another Saturday afternoon.

The accident occurred on Highway 121 just east of the Allsaw bridge.

Ronald Robinson, 34, of Minden, was westbound when he observed another vehicle sliding toward his own. Robinson attempted to avoid the collision by steering to the right, but was unsuccessful.

The driver of the second car was 22 year old Christopher Wright, of Minden. The Robinson car sustained $6,000 damage with the Wright car damages being estimated at $8,000.

The drivers and a passenger in the Robinson vehicle, five year old Amanda Robinson, were treated and released from Haliburton Hospital.

Constable Boyd Jarvis was the investigating officer.

Collision

A driver has been charged following a collision at the intersection of Highway 35 and Horseshoe Lake Road.

Police report that 44 year old Gladys Lawson of Bolton was attempting to turn onto the highway from the sideroad when her vehicle was struck by a northbound car driven by 54 year old Agnes Houghton of Dysart.

Lawson and two passengers, Ann Miscio 86, and Vera Bagshaw, 61, both of Minden, were treated at Minden Hospital for minor injuries.

Lawson was charged with failing to yield the right of way at an intersection.

Constable Mike Maybee was the investigating officer.

Hunters

The hunting season has brought with it the usual number of requests to the OPP for assistance in locating missing hunters. This season, six have been reported so far. One hunter was forced to spend a rainy night in the bush north of Dorset before finding his own way to safety the following morning.

All other missing hunters have likewise walked out of the bush, all wiser for their experience, but unharmed.

Garage break-in

The county road department garage at Ingoldsby was the target of thieves in the early morning hours of November 4 - 5.

The intruders removed chain saws, transit and level, small tools and other equipment used in the repair of the department's vehicles. The estimated value of the missing property was $8,000.

Police are continuing their investigation into the matter.

ald. "This was done to avoid placing an unnecessary burden on either workers or employers and to allow the UI Commission of Inquiry time to examine the program in depth. However, the UI Act requires that the maximum levels of insurable income be calculated each year according to a set formula".

For 1986, the maximum level of income that can be insured each week, or the maximum weekly insurable earnings, will be $495, an increase of $35 from the 1985 level.

This means that the maximum weekly UI benefit, which is 60 per cent of a worker's average insurable earnings, will rise to $297 (from $276 in 1985).

Miss MacDonald also noted that employees must earn a certain minimum amount to be insured under the UI program. Measured in dollars, the minimum is equal to 20 per cent of the maximum weekly insurable earnings - $99 a week in 1986. (For workers who earn less than $99 a week, the minimum requirement can also be met by working 15 hours a week for the same employer).

These new figures for 1986 ensure that the UI program continues to provide Canadian workers with adequate protection, explained Miss MacDonald.

Any UI claimant, whose net income (including UI benefits) for the tax year 1986 is over $38,610, will have to pay back a portion of their UI benefits. (In any year, the upper income limit is equal to 1.5 times the maximum yearly insurable earnings. For the 1985 tax year, the limit is $35,880.)

are then absorbed, and converted to protein and fat.

Snowshoes - through their numbers and vulnerability - then become the main diet of a host of predators - great horned and great grey owls, red fox, coyote and timber wolves, lynx and bobcat to name but a few. And, therein lies an interesting balancing 'act'. Snowshoes must be efficient at escaping predators. But not too efficient.

Snowshoes' crepuscular (evening/dawn) and nocturnal habits reduce their visibility. So does their slow, pausing movement, and constant scanning of the terrain with superb vision and sensitive ears. But perhaps the most important is the annual colour change: brown in summer, white in winter. Now in the midst of their 70-day-long autumnal moult, snowshoes are losing patches of brown fur, and growing in white. According to scientists they have 2 complete sets of hair follicles - 1 white and 1 brown. Shortening daylength triggers the moult and growth of white fur.

Together, these adaptations and their ability to bound up to 50 km per hour - make the snowshoe an elusive prey. Yet, thanks to equally-intriguing adaptations, predators take nearly 90% of all snowshoes each year, converting them into their bodies.

Snowshoe numbers move through a 10-year cycle, with huge variations in population. In peaks, there may be 3,000 times the number in low years. And with the snowshoe's fortune floats the numbers of lynx, and other predators.

A key component of Ontario's ecosystem, snowshoes are intriguing subjects to anyone who watches carefully. Have a look - you'll see them particularly in late afternoons or on an overcast day. And watch for the tell-tale snapping of twigs and winter-girdled branches. You'll discover a whole new part of our outdoors.

Archbishop Lewis Garnsworthy, centre, pronounces the blessing for the new church hall at St. Paul's Anglican Church. The new hall was officially opened Sunday. Accompanying the Archbishop were, on the left, Archdeacon Keith McKean, St. Paul's parish priest, Rev. George Elliott, right, and servers, from the left, Janna Obee, Hunter Obee and Misti Campbell.

Bishop opens new hall

St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden celebrated the opening of the new parish hall during a dedication service on Sunday.

Joining Father George Elliott and the congregation in the service were Archbishop Lewis S. Garnsworthy, Bishop of Toronto and Mrs. Garnsworthy, Archdeacon Keith McKean and Mrs. McKean, the architect John Blatherwick and engineer Ray Kurjian. During the service Archbishop Garnsworthy blessed the new facility as members of the congregation proceeded through the hall. The parish hall which replaces a structure built in 1948 and the tower built in 1951 is comprised of a large dining hall, office, study and Sunday School and meeting rooms.

St. Paul's Church was constructed in the late 1860's.

Following the service a pot luck lunch was held in the lower hall.

Canadian sovereignty seen to be in jeopardy

The voyage of the American ice-breaker Polar Sea through the North-West Passage during the summer was viewed with alarm by many Canadians who believed it was an unwarranted intrusion into Canadian waters and an indication of American indifference to Canadian sovereignty.

The federal government's reaction was to radio the captain of the ship and grant permission for the voyage after it had begun. Opposition parties and political commentators condemned the United States government for their actions and the Canadian government for their feeble response.

One group chose a more dramatic method of expressing their outrage.

Members of the Council of Canadians chartered a private plane, flew over the Polar Sea and dropped a canister onboard. In the canister was a number of Canadian flags and a note suggesting the crew ask permission to enter Canadian waters. That protest in the high arctic was the first public action of the newly formed organization.

In October 200 members of the COC met in Ottawa for the founding convention under the chairmanship of Mel Hurtig, an Edmonton based publisher who financed the aerial protest of the Polar Sea voyage. Among the members of the Toronto chapter who attended was Doug Hughes of Gooderham, the chapter's environment critic.

In an interview with The Times, Mr. Hughes explained the purpose of the COC and announced his intention of forming a local chapter in the region.

Commenting on the voyage of the American ice breaker, Mr. Hughes said, "Mel Hurtig believed the Polar Sea incident made Canadians realize Americans don't have our best interests at heart. Americans are doing things to us, not for us."

He emphasised however the COC is not an anti American organization, instead, he said, it is pro Canadian. "At present we have over 3,000 members and have representation from across Canada - from Halifax to Victoria. We are hoping to get a million Canadians in our group."

"The larger the organization is, the more say it will have in the country's affairs. We can be an umbrella organization for a myriad of groups in the country and we especially want to work with environmental groups. People who are fighting for other things can fight under one banner," he commented.

Many of the concerns that prompted the formation of the COC are contained in the Statement of Purpose released after the founding convention.

As noted in the opening paragraph of the statement, "The primary objective of the Council of Canadians is the preservation and reinforcement of Canadian sovereignty."

The statement continues, "The Council of Canadians came into existence because its founding members believe that there are now strong pressures to change fundamental aspects of national policy in ways which will seriously erode and permanently weaken Canadian sovereignty. The most urgent issues are in the areas of economic policy, cultural policy, foreign policy and territorial sovereignty."

Addressing the area of economic policy, the Council opposes a bilateral free trade agreement with the U.S. because it would not be in Canada's best interests. The agreement would, "give Americans the right to scrutinize and demand changes in Canadian tax policy, industrial policy, natural resource development, social benefits and regional policies," according to the statement.

Canada

To emphasise the problems created in Canada's economy by American and multi-national interests, Mr. Hughes pointed out 47 branch plants owned by foreign investors have been closed in the southeastern region of Ontario resulting in layoffs of many local workers.

Commenting on the cultural aspect of Canadian society, the statement notes, "A nation that allows the perceptions and needs of other societies to dominate its cultural industries will eventually cease to exist."

To ensure the continuance of a strong Canadian identity, the COC emphasises its commitment to the continued support of such institutions as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the National Film Board. Arguing that, "Canadian cultural expression must be seen, like education and health care, as essential to a healthy, richly diverse and tolerant society."

In terms of foreign policy the COC believes, "It is imperative that Canada continue and expand its international role," and that, "The present Government of Canada is neglecting our internationalist perspective as the result of our preoccupation with our U.S. relationship."

The statement argues Canada should insist that the defence policies of the United States, such as the Strategic Defence Initiative or Star Wars plan, do not jeopardize the political or territorial sovereignty of Canada.

The government should also be taking strong measures in such bilateral issues as acid rain and water management, the statement notes.

The policy statement concludes with the assertion, "The Council of Canadians believes there are many reasonable and effective strategies for creating a better Canada with less employment, a better standard of living, greater freedom in national decision making and a greater role among the world's community of nations."

Mr. Hughes pointed out the COC is not affiliated with any political party and brings together people from all walks of life. To emphasise his point, he noted that while the individual membership fee is $25 there is a special rate of $5 for students, seniors and non-working citizens.

Whether the COC can attain its goal of attracting a million Canadians to the organization is not certain, but many Canadians do support the COC philosophy.

An opinion poll conducted recently shows two thirds of Canadians have reservations about the proposed free trade discussions between the Governments of Canada and the United States.

Carnarvon puppet touted as the best

Kaija Siiralla cuddles one of the new "Wrinkles" dolls which have become the toy hit of the season.

Wrinkles, a stuffed hand puppet designed by Cathy Senitt of Carnarvon, has been selected as the Toy of the Year by the Canadian Toy Testing Council.

Mrs. Senitt created the first "Wrinkles" for her children then after repeated requests she began hand-crafting the lovable puppets for her friends. Demand became so great she formed a company Senitt Puppets and Dolls with three of her friends in the Fergus area.

Two years ago the company employees moved to Carnarvon and have been busy ever since producing a wide range of hand puppets and selling them in craft shows across the province.

The toys are also exported to the United States and other countries.

It was during one of those craft shows that the puppet makers met Sam Ganz, president of Ganz Brothers Toys Ltd. of Woodbridge, Ontario. Mr. Ganz was so impressed with the puppets he purchased the design rights to Wrinkles and now offers the cuddly creature in stores across Canada.

The Canada Toy Testing Council, a voluntary organization based in Ottawa conducted extensive tests by children and parents and named Wrinkles as their overwhelming choice for the Toy of the Year.

The report released by the council describes Wrinkles as being, "unquestionably the most attractive toy to appear in most toy testing households. Immensely popular this captivating canine combines all the best features of a stuffed toy and a puppet. Soft, cuddly and equally irresistible to older children (and adults) as to young ones."

On a practical note the report points out the toy can be machine washed and dried.

The council was so impressed with Wrinkles they awarded him the Toy of the Year Award instead of assigning him a rating, noting the award will only be presented when a toy clearly deserves it.

The version of Wrinkles The Puppet manufactured by Ganz Brothers is the best selling plush toy in the country and sales are expected to reach 300,000 by Christmas.

Meanwhile Senitt Puppets and Dolls continue to create their own version of Wrinkles as well as other puppets and stuffed animals, and sales are as brisk as ever.

Now that Wrinkles has received an award it is Cathy's turn to be honoured. The Canadian Toy Testing Council will be presenting her with an award for her original design later this year.

The Wrinkles design is being used in a number of variations, including a 5 foot, 6 inch high model featured as one of a number of luxury gifts in the Sears catalogue. The price for this "ultimate gift" is $500.

Double win for Juveniles

A pair of decisive victories by the Minden Monarch Juveniles over the weekend proves conclusively the team is as good if not better than last year's "DD" championship team, but there are concerns the lack of competition may leave the players unprepared for the calibre of play in the playoffs.

While the chances of switching leagues appears slim, there is hope tournament games may provide enough strong opposition to keep the players sharp as they aim for their second Ontario championship in a row.

Despite two lackluster periods on Friday, the Monarchs skated to a 10-5 win on the road against Beaverton. A strong third period also gave the team a victory on Sunday as they clobbered Baltimore 9-2.

In Friday's game, Lenny Johnston opened the scoring on an unassisted goal early in the first period. Not to be outdone, Beaverton scored two minutes later.

The Monarchs went ahead by two on a pair of quick goals by Boomer Stamp from Doug Schell and an unassisted marker by Scot Hamilton.

Beaverton narrowed the lead a minute later, then Boomer connected for his second goal, unassisted with a minute remaining in the period to give Minden a 4-2 lead.

Four minutes into the second period Lenny Johnston took a pass from Graham Hackson and beat the Beaverton goalie for his second goal of the game. A minute later Beaverton narrowed the lead to two goals.

There was a flurry of goals in the final two minutes of play in the period. Beaverton picked up one marker then a minute later Barry Boice added to the Minden total on a pass from Scot Hamilton and Bernie Upton. With 16 seconds remaining Beaverton scored to give the Monarchs a slim one goal margin at the end of two periods.

After a pep talk by coach Jerry Campbell between periods, the Monarchs came out flying and skated away with the game, scoring four unanswered goals. Jeff Howe got things moving on an unassisted goal after two minutes of play.

Less than a minute later, Lenny Johnston completed his hat trick after picking up a pass from Doug Schell. Barry Boice put the Monarchs ahead by four on an unassisted goal, his second of the night, then Scot Hamilton added his second marker assisted by Barry Boice and Greg Newell to cap off the scoring in the final minute of play.

The Monarchs were assessed 26 minutes in minor penalties while Beaverton picked up an identical number of minors plus a major.

Sunday's blitz

A six goal outburst in the final period gave the Monarchs a 9-2 win in Baltimore on Sunday.

Bernie Upton opened the scoring on a pass from Boomer Stamp and Lenny Johnston. Baltimore rebounded to tie the game late in the period.

The Monarchs added two more on goals by Barry Boice from Bernie Upton and Scot Hamilton and Boomer Stamp from Bernie Upton. Barry Boice and Boomer Stamp put the Monarchs ahead 3-1 by the end of the second period. Assists went to Bernie Upton with a pair and Scot Hamilton.

The Monarchs put the game out of reach in the third period, scoring six in a row before Baltimore added their second goal of the game.

Andy Campbell was the top scorer for Halls with a pair of goals and an assist. Ben Manuge with a goal and two assists and Lawrence Lougheed with a single rounded out the scoring.

The schedule resumes Monday, November 18 at Minden Arena with a full slate of games beginning at 7 p.m. There is no admission charge for any of the games in the Minden Men's Recreational League.

Save energy - block air leaks

If valuable heat is seeping out of your house, a visual check of its exterior can pinpoint the causes.

Does the snow melt away from the foundation of your house quickly? If so, you probably need more basement insulation. Basement heat loss is generally very high, particularly if the walls extend more than 30 cm above the outside ground level.

If the snow melts quickly from your roof or if you have chronic icicle formation, heat loss through the roof is high. And when the icicles melt, damage will result to roofing materials and eavestroughing.

Peeling paint on the exterior walls of your house could indicate that moisture inside the house is seeping into the structure. Making sure that the inside surfaces of exterior walls are airtight and providing better exterior ventilation of wall structures are the two best solutions.

RSI/R Values

Home insulation is sold by its thermal resistance value - a precise measure of its resistance to heat flow. This measure is represented by an RSI or R value. RSI is metric; R is the imperial measure. Often insulation is marked with both so be careful not to confuse the two. The higher the RSI or R value, the better the material insulates. So even though one brand is thicker than another, if they both have the same RSI or R value, they will perform equally well. To convert R to RSI, divide the R value by 5.7. To convert RSI to R, simply multiply the RSI value by 5.7.

There was a mix up in last week's article about the two dinners at St. Paul's church. The following should clarify the situation.

Date: Tuesday, November 19. Time: 6:00 p.m. Location: St. Paul's New Parish Hall. Cost: $8 per person. The dinner will include soup, salad, roast beef, potatoes, vegetables, and dessert, all prepared and served by members of Our Lady of Fatima Roman Catholic Church. Please note that tickets must be purchased in advance for this dinner. No tickets will be sold at the door. To make reservations call F. George Elliott at 286-1817.

There will also be special entertainment after the meal. You are invited to join the congregation as they celebrate and give thanks for their new hall. Tickets are limited, so don't wait too long to make your reservation.

In error, congratulations went to the wrong couple last week - it was, in fact, Don and Irma Pasquino who celebrated their wedding anniversary. Sorry about that, hope you had a nice one anyway!

Thursday afternoon card party winners at St. Paul's last week included Mabel Deacon, most lone hands, Esther Lee, May Spence (Men's), Isabel Robertson and Orval Francis.

Maron Rose and Bob Smith enjoyed a motor trip to the Maritimes and eastern United States recently.

We were sorry to hear that Hal Burton had undergone surgery recently in Oshawa, but are happy to report he is convalescing at his daughter's home in Oshawa. Get well soon Hal, all your friends from Club 35 send their best wishes, too.

Jean Lacey, Annie Kernohan, Bea Taylor and Jeanne Sears were in Toronto for a few days last week. Mrs. Lacey was the Minden delegate to the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario Area Convention at The Royal York Hotel.

Eileen and Paul Cockburn of Woodville visited Florence and Phil Robinson on Monday.

Bill Lacey, Jim Cruikshank and Danny Jackson from Shelburne visited with Jean and Cliff Lacey recently while hunting in the area.

Wednesday, November 20 at 2 p.m. the Minden W.I. will meet at the Library/Cultural Centre when Mrs. C. Lacey, president, will give her report on the area convention. Roll call this week demands an article for business discussed at the senate meeting.

Don't forget the Club 35 in Halls Lake pot luck supper at 6 p.m. on Friday evening. A very pleasant way to share food and fellowship.

auction and a sincere welcome will be given to all newcomers.

Also on Wednesday, November 20, a Friendship Tea will be held at Zion United Church in Carnarvon for all ladies of the community. Tea will be served from 2 - 4 p.m. and the chosen theme is "Our Heritage". A nice way to share some fun, fellowship and refreshments.

The Superannuated Teachers of Ontario fall Senate meeting was held November 5 at Park Plaza Hotel, Toronto. Representatives from District 18 were president Gala Heal, Minden, as senator, vice-president Earl Wood, Lindsay and secretary/treasurer Marion Barsley of Carnarvon, as observers. All superannuated teachers will be receiving a report from STO/ERO Toronto headquarters outlining the

Serious Thoughts

A fish, belly up washes listlessly
Against the shore,
The fish is dead, and will swim no more.
A bird, beautiful in flight
Tries to wing its way into the night
Unfortunately, tonight will be its last flight.
The lake is so beautiful, and calm and serene,
It seems as it has always been
A place for those who love nature
To spend their holidays,
People have always wended their ways
To a place that seems home to them.
It used to be, when I was young and free
I would think of the lakes
The blue, blue sky
And I could wander along the shore
And forget what passed before
The pebbles and sand against my feet
The little wavelets softly beat
No worries and cares, were there.
But no more.
Look what man has done
To our virgin wilderness.
He has polluted and degraded
All that God wrought.
When are the people going to say
We will not stand another day
Of man's greed.
We can do it if we try.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Why does the Statue of Liberty stand in New York Harbour?

A: Halfway, after that he's running out.

Q: How can you put a good horse on his metal?

A: Shoe him.

A: Because he eats best when there isn't a bit in his mouth.

A: A carpet.

Q: Why is a lawyer like a ballet dancer?

A: They both practice at the bar.

Q: What has many keys that fit no locks?

Edna Cowen substituting for Bert Harrison

Dear Readers:

As Bert is still away in hospital, I am going to try and write the news for you. We have had several folks away in hospital, including Gordon Ruttle, Etta Brentnell and Lily Hogg, as well as Bert Harrison. We wish them all speedy recoveries.

A week ago Thursday was Hallowe'en and we had all sorts of spooks in here, around 240 of them, big and little, short and tall. It was good fun and we enjoyed them all.

The Catholic ladies from Haliburton brought us a lovely lunch in the afternoon, which we enjoyed as well as the fellowship.

Mr. Ron Welch, of Frankford, Ont. visited with his mother, Mrs. Edith Welch, and his Aunt Carrie Jones, last Friday. He took them for a nice drive around Minden and was very surprised how the town had grown since he went away 34 years ago.

We had quite a few callers and visitors in over the weekend, which sure makes it nice for us, especially on dull ones.

Our sincere sympathy goes to Mrs. Mary Oliver on the death of her son-in-law, Lloyd Coneybeare last week.

Mr. Harold Hogg spent a few days with his aunt, Mrs. Reta McNeil, last week helping her get things ready for winter and enjoying a visit at the same time.

Tuesday afternoon Doris showed us 3 movies in the auditorium. They were all very interesting. The "Snow Monkeys of Japan", "Thousand Island Summer" and "Thin Ice Survival". The last one everyone who rides snowmobiles should have a chance to watch.

Darryl Crowe came and sang for an hour for us on Tuesday night. He has a nice voice and we always enjoy him very much.

Christmas is getting closer and knitting needles and crochet hooks are really flying around here getting ready.

Lily Hogg got back from hospital on Sunday but is not feeling very well and will have to go back later, she expects. Mrs. Brentnell got home for a night or so but has had to go back to Peterborough hospital again. Very disappointing for them.

Wednesday was our Bazaar and Tea and there was a really good crowd. We did very well money wise as well as seeing many old friends. The craft quilt which was raffled off went to Mrs. Thelma Gibb of Windsor - quite a ways off. She is Mrs. Gladys Kirkpatrick's daughter.

We had the Full Gospel Lighthouse Ladies and their Pastor and family for afternoon tea on Thursday. We had some beautiful music as well as a lovely lunch. Pastor Taylor is wonderful on the piano and his wife is a good singer. I especially enjoyed this tea as I've been good friends with most of the ladies for many years. Each group that comes are old friends with some of the residents.

Lyle and Linda McKnight and Don and Yvonne Nye and Mr. Ed Pergolas came Thursday evening and helped with bingo. Most everyone got one bingo or more.

On Friday, Silver's Stores brought clothing of all kinds for sale. Folks could go up to the auditorium and shop at their leisure and never go outdoors. In the evening Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon and George Smith came in to play and sing for us. They can really do it. I'll tell you no one dozes off while they are here. They keep our toes tapping, and we love it.

Well, Bert, this is the best I can do, so hurry up and get well and back home. There are many prayers and good wishes going out to you every day.

Take care 'till next week.

Farm couples seminar

Four regional weekend seminars for farm couples will be held across Ontario in early 1986. Called "Partners In Success" - a Farm Couple's Retreat, each seminar is designed to teach participants skills in time management, goal setting, problem solving and communications. This seminar will also provide an opportunity for dialogue with other farm couples in a relaxed setting away from the everyday cares and worries of the farm.

The seminar for the Central Ontario Region is being held on February 21 - 23, 1986, at the Geneva Park Conference Centre on Lake Couchiching, near Orillia. A maximum of 25 couples will be selected by lottery draw to attend each seminar. The cost for the exciting weekend is $100.00 per couple.

Additional information on the seminar program and application forms are available from County Agricultural Offices. The deadline for receiving applications is January 15, 1986.

The Farm Couple's Retreat is being sponsored by the Rural Organizations and Services Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

IN MEMORIAM

McPHAIL: In loving memory of a dear grandson Michael McPhail, who passed away November 9, 1984.

Time doesn't heal the heartaches
Nor stop the silent tear
Or take away the memories
Of the grandson I love so dear.
Life isn't the same without you
Since you left us.

He is gone but not forgotten.
Always remembered by Grandmother McPhail.
